"You are alive... this is the single most important fact of your existence. Feel your connection to the subtle presence that gifts life- be conscious, be blissful and be empowered."

These words softly drifted out of my mouth into the modest expanse of the BODY event center. The room was fragranced with wafts of spicy incense and the vibrant sway of Tibetan prayer flags. Sincere spiritual seekers quietly filtered in, hoping for life clarifying guidance and spiritual tutelage.

For several months now, I have been delighted to host intimate and moving message galleries at the BODY center in Santa Fe New Mexico. The next upcoming gallery at BODY will be Sunday August 9th @ 7PM. Come join us for an inspired evening of messages and gain "how to" guidance on your path of spiritual empowerment.

For those of you far removed from the south west, living over in the south east- I am happy to give you the news that plans are underway for a short tour to Asheville, North Carolina. I hope to arrive for in-person sittings and possibly an Evening of Spirit in late August. Please keep a watchful eye on our special events pages for announcements. We surely will post in-person dates as soon as the manifold details are finalized.

It is truly amazing, to consider just how much my service has matured in the last fourteen years. Thousands of eager and enthusiastic people across six continents have sought out my guidance-gifting me the honor to provide them counsel and perspective. In truth, I couldn't be happier. I do what I most love, get to live where I choose, and am freely given palpable support that perpetually inspires me everyday in my special world of perceiving and relaying guidance.

I wish you all a lovely and fun filled summer season...as always, with great gratitude- I look forward to guiding you on your journey.

Grace always,
Charley Castex
